QUICK GUIDE TO HONDO CANYON TRAIL

DESCRIPTION: This section of the Backbone Trail climbs 1,550 feet over 3.67 miles, offering excellent views of Topanga and its surrounding. If a 7.6-mile hike sounds daunting, hikers have the option to make a one-way journey with a car shuttle. Be it a one-way, trail users will find the trail easy to follow. The trail switches through a dense forest made up of green grasses and California bays. Besides vegetation, hikers may also spot deer.

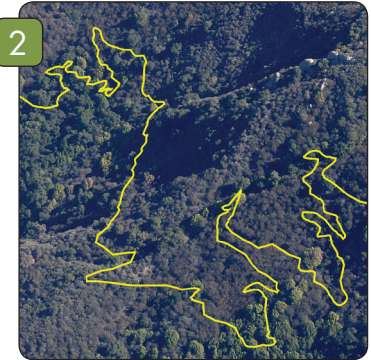

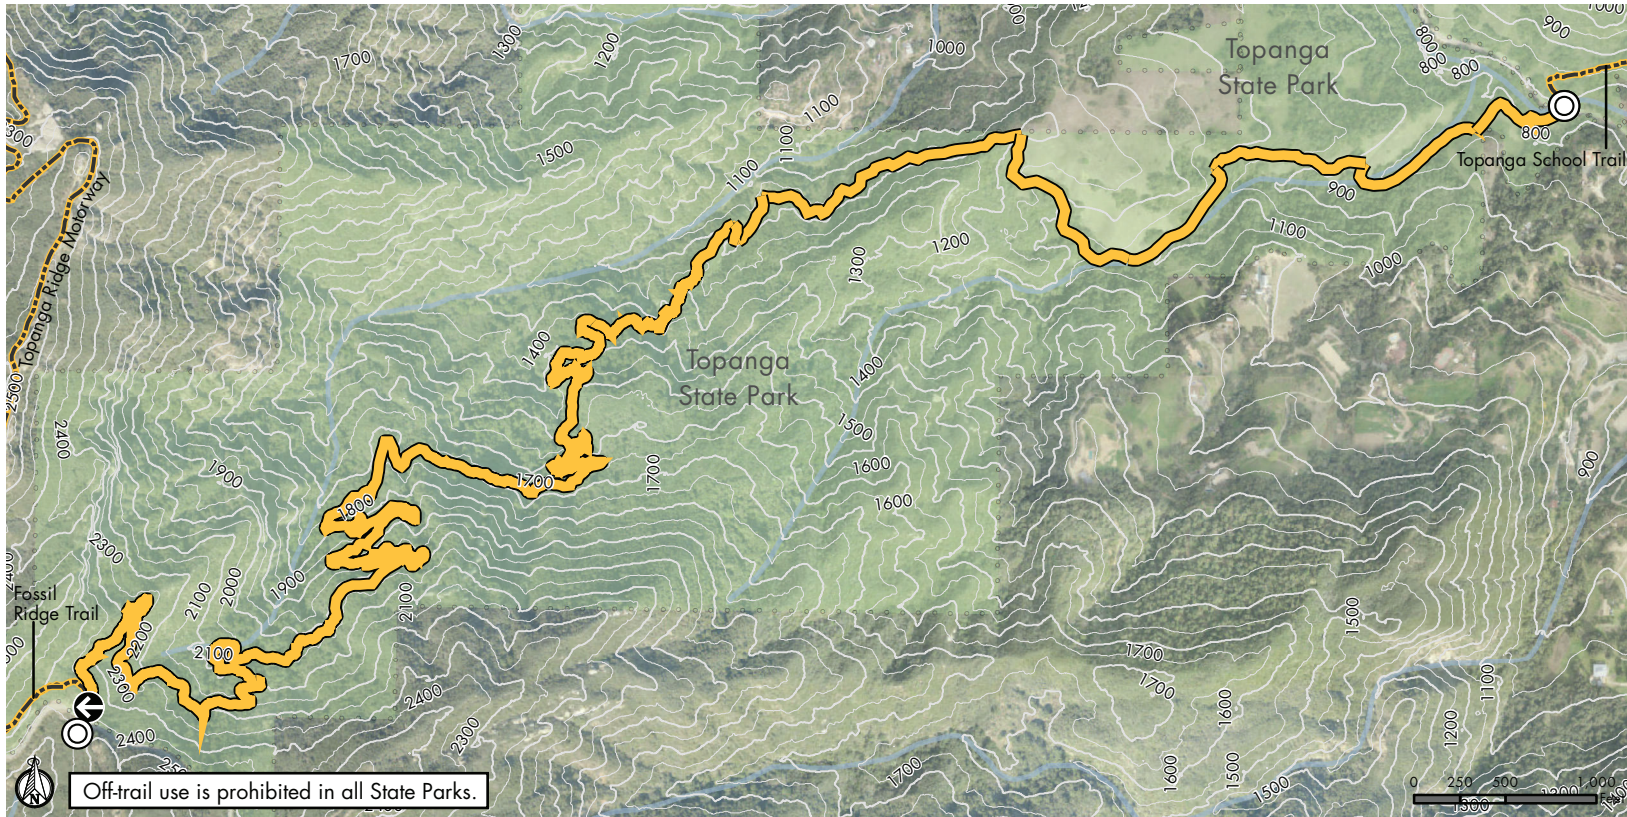

DIRECTIONS: From the PCH, turn inland onto South Topanga Canyon Road. After 4.3 miles, turn left and head onto Old Topanga Canyon Road for about 0.5 mile. Safely park along either side of the road and locate the marked trailheads.

HAZARDS ON THE TRAIL

Rattlesnakes occasionally sun themselves in the middle of the trail. If encountered, keep your distance and allow space for the snake to retreat.

Poison oak can be identified by groups of 3 leaves going up the branch. It's best avoided by staying on the trail and wearing long pants and long-sleeved shirts to prevent contact with skin.

Ticks are most often found in shaded, grassy areas off the beaten path. Stick to established trails and wear long pants to avoid contact. Check for ticks frequently, especially the scalp, waist and other dark places where they can hide.

SHARE THE TRAIL

When trail conditions require a right of way for safe passage, equestrian users have the primary right of way, hikers next and then mountain bikers. When trail conditions allow and when there is width to safely pass, common courtesy should prevail for all users. Stand to one side of the trail and allow them to pass. When in a group, avoid blocking the trail. Mountain bikers yield to all trail users. Anticipate other trail users as you ride around corners. Mountain bikers traveling downhill must yield to all users, including other mountain bikers, headed uphill. In general, make each pass a safe and courteous one.
